

“HEAP BIG” INDIAN

HERE IS ONE CREEK WHO HAS ACCOMPLISHED THINGS.

Special Dispatch to the State Capital.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 23.—How's this? Rev. John Grayson, a Creek Indian, is president of the Abe Lincoln Trading company of Clearview, I. T. He is also a Baptist minister and preaches regularly in the church at that place. He owns the only butcher shop in town. He raises his own cattle, having a ranch comprising 480 acres adjoining his home. He has a controlling interest in the Tribune, the only newspaper in the town. He is postmaster of Clearview and practically controls the money lending business of the town. His daughter, Miss Hettie, an accomplished young lady, is his assistant in the postoffice.
